Of all Jane Austen's novels, Pride and Prejudice is probably the best-known and the most-loved. This may be partly because it has been filmed several times, but more important is the fact that the characters in it are so real and alive. They are also extremely attractive, in spite of their faults. Perhaps they are attractive because of their faults, for their faults make them amusing to the reader. It would not be at all pleasant to have a mother as lacking in sense as Mrs Bennet is, or an aunt as confident of herself and as insensitive to the feelings of others as Lady Catherine is. But, as they are at a safe distance from us, these and other "terrible" characters give the novel much colour and variety.

41. According to the passage, the most likely reason for the popularity of Pride and Prejudice is ----.

- A) the characters, who delight the reader with their vitality and life-like portrayal
- B) that the films made of it have been very well produced
- C) that the bad characters get punished and the good ones rewarded
- D) the comic attitude to life that it expresses
- E) the simple style in which it is written

42. The point is made in the passage that in real life ----.

- A) a person's faults needn't disturb us if we don't get too intimate with that person
- B) a person's faults are less noticeable than they are in a novel
- C) one usually forgives the faults of one's own family
- D) a person's faults may annoy us whereas in a novel the same faults may amuse us
- E) it's best to ignore people's faults but in a novel it's best to enjoy them

43. It is clear from the passage that Lady Catherine ----.

- A) and Mrs Bennet are extremely good friends
- B) has constantly hurt Mrs Bennet's feelings
- C) cares for no one but herself
- D) is the main character in Pride and Prejudice
- E) is definitely the worst character in the novel

44. – 46. soruları aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

The Lovell Telescope is the world's oldest and most sensitive radio telescope. It consists of a giant white dish supported at a great height on a large and complicated structure of steel. The telescope can pick up signals in the universe that are 10 billion light years away. And so it is truly extraordinary. The steel structure that carries it, however, has the usual and very ordinary disadvantage of being liable to rust. This of course means that it has to be painted regularly. Painting this, however, is not an ordinary or a simple task. The men who do the painting are given a special training which includes rescue work. As they do the painting, the men work from ropes as this is the method which has been found to be the safest way of working at a height.

44. It is pointed out in the passage that the Lovell Telescope ----.

- A) only picks up signals effectively when the angle of the dish is in line with them
- B) can pick up signals that are an immense distance away
- C) is no longer the world's most sensitive radio telescope
- D) does not need to be supported at a great height in order to function efficiently
- E) is old and so less efficient than it used to be

45. It's clear from the passage that the steel structure supporting the Lovell Telescope ----.

- A) should have been given a less complicated design
- B) turned out to be more expensive than had been estimated
- C) has to be replaced completely at regular intervals
- D) presents a serious maintenance problem
- E) has to be painted at least once a year

46. It is clear from the passage that the work of painting the steel structure of this telescope ----.

- A) requires special skills and is also comparatively dangerous
- B) is quite straightforward once the method has been learned
- C) requires the removal of the dish
- D) is relatively easy but extremely boring
- E) can be done by anyone who knows how to paint

Before leaving for school at noon, Nelson Carvalho, a seven-year child, living on a small island off West Africa, happily feeds and waters the pigs and goats, the cow and the donkey. He fetches drinking water from the source, a 20-minute walk down a sandy path and up a steep hill, carrying a 5-litre jar on his head. He might help his grandmother too. Afterwards, he will walk barefoot for nearly an hour among the rocky hills, under the blazing sun, before sitting down, tired out, at his desk at the school. A glass of milk and a dried pear gives him back his energy and gets him ready for lessons. Before leaving school in mid-afternoon, he will be given a bowl of rice and chicken, or a rich soup. Every school child on the island like Nelson Carvalho, is given a hot meal and a snack provided by the World Food Programme, every day, six days a week.

47. From the passage we learn about ----.

- A) the education of poor children in West Africa
- B) the working conditions of people on a poor African island
- C) a typical day in the life of a child on an island off West Africa
- D) the interesting customs and activities of island children close to West Africa
- E) the traditional food given to children on an African island

- A) is not at all interested in his school work
- B) spends a great deal of time each day walking over difficult ground
- C) dislikes doing all the jobs they make him do on the farm
- D) lives with his grandmother who has no one but him to help her
- E) is only going to school because he wants to have a better life in the future

49. From the passage, it is clear that the boy Nelson constantly needs energy-giving foods ----.

- A) though the World Food Programme does not realize this
- B) such as his grandmother provides for him
- C) in order to protect him from various diseases
- D) because of the hard physical life he leads
- E) though these are almost impossible to get on this poor island

In one part of the Nairobi National Park there is a nursery for baby elephants whose mothers have been killed. There are at least two African keepers for each baby elephant, and a strong feeling of love soon develops between them. The keepers spend all day out in the park with the young elephants, helping them to learn which foods are best to eat and to become confident among the sounds and smells of nature just as their natural mothers would have done. Each evening they return to the nursery. And, after a feed of milk, the young elephants settle down beside their favourite keepers and presently fall asleep.

50. From the passage, it is quite obvious that the keepers described ----.

- A) are responsible for all the nurseries throughout the Nairobi National Park
- B) are somewhat indifferent to the needs of the baby elephants
- C) are over-worked because they have to look after so many baby elephants
- D) actually know little about elephants and their environment
- E) have taken over the role of mother elephants for the baby elephants

51. We understand from the passage that, in this nursery, baby elephants ----.

- A) are not only fed but also helped to adapt themselves to the natural environment
- B) spend a good part of each day exploring the park by themselves
- C) are looked after by keepers because the mother elephants have deserted them
- D) take a very long time to get used to their keepers and trust them
- E) are rarely treated as well as they ought to be

52. One can conclude from the details given in the passage that the job the keepers do ----.

- A) is largely concerned with feeding and physical exercising
- B) is an easy one, but extremely boring
- C) requires a period of thorough training in veterinary skills
- D) requires a deep understanding of the nature and needs of baby elephants
- E) cannot compare at all with the way a mother elephant brings up her baby

Born in Pisa on 15 February 1564, Galileo was the son of a court musician to the Duke of Tuscany. At the age of 17, he entered the University of Pisa to study medicine, at his father's insistence. But Galileo secretly attended lectures given by Ostilio Ricci, court mathematician, and heard of a revolutionary idea: that mathematics could explain natural phenomena like the movement of the planets. This hardly seems surprising today, but back in the 16th century most academics insisted that all knowledge about the cosmos came from one source: the Greek philosopher Aristotle.

53. It is pointed out in the passage that in the age of Galileo, ----.

- A) medicine was the most popular subject taught at the universities
- B) most Italian noblemen felt it was necessary to employ a musician
- C) mathematics was, for the first time, regarded as the key to an understanding of nature
- D) all physicists rejected the idea that the planets could move in orbits

The fairy stories of the Danish writer Hans Christian Andersen were not written only to entertain; they all have a moral, or a message, or at least put forward a serious idea. These ideas, however, are always very simple, so even quite small children can understand them and enjoy them. Andersen often presents opposites such as good and evil, truth and falsehood, or appearance and reality. We see this last contrast in the story of The Ugly Duckling. To the ducks he appeared ugly. But the reality was he grew up to be a beautiful swan. This is another characteristic of the stories: they offer hope. The future may be so much better than the present. Most of the tales had been told to children before being written down, so they have a natural, easy, oral style which makes them very successful among children in all countries.

56. It is clear from the passage that, though Andersen wrote his stories for children, ----.

- A) it is only the children of his own country, Denmark, who really enjoy them
- B) they are mostly too complex for children to understand
- C) they all say something worth saying
- D) there is a great deal in them that children cannot understand or enjoy
- E) they are only really popular among adults

57. According to the passage, one idea that is often found in Andersen's stories is that ----.

- A) children should be taught how to protect wild life
- B) evil and falsehood will be punished
- C) one should not look for happiness and entertainment in life
- D) appearances are not important and should be disregarded
- E) one can always hope that good times will follow bad ones

58. We understand from the passage that the style of these stories ----.

- A) is so heavy that very few children can enjoy them
- B) is ideally suited to children
- C) is extremely simple, but most of the ideas are not
- D) is so complex that a majority of children find it very hard to follow them
- E) changes so often that the stories become difficult to read

A group of biologists studying the habits of chimpanzees around the Koba National Park, made a surprising discovery. There was plenty of water available for them in the pools left in river beds, but these animals always liked to dig their own pools by hand or with the help of sticks. As a result the water they drank had been filtered through the sand and so contained none of the disease-carrying substances normally to be found in water that is not moving. In fact, they were drinking clear water.

59. As it is pointed out in the passage, water ----.

- A) is responsible for more diseases than most people think
- B) must always be filtered through sand to make it drinkable
- C) is hard to find at certain times of the year
- D) that isn't moving is likely to contain harmful substances
- E) is of no importance to chimpanzees

60. It is clear from the passage that there was plenty of water readily available for the chimpanzees to drink ----.

- A) in the small pools formed in river beds
- B) in all areas of the Koba National Park
- C) but they preferred river water as it was always moving and so clean
- D) but sometimes this water made them ill
- E) though they had to be taught how to dig holes to get it

61. The research team of the passage was surprised to learn that the chimpanzees ----.

- A) never allowed anyone near their water pools
- B) could dig a hole in any part of the Koba National Park
- C) were very careful not to waste water
- D) had found a way of getting clean water
- E) dug holes to get water if there was none left in the rivers
